

Capacity Building Workshop for Teacher Trainers

Centre for English Language Education (CELE)
Ambedkar University Delhi

The Centre for English Language Education (CELE) at Ambedkar University Delhi (AUD) proposes to offer several teaching and research programmes in English Language Teaching (ELT). One such being planned is an outreach programme that aims to enhance the English language proficiency of Delhi government school students (Classes IX, X and XI).

As part of the outreach programme, it plans to prepare teachers through a 3-month certificate course in ELT, expected to be launched in August 2017. In order to do this, it plans to orient experienced teachers through an intensive workshop to enable them to teach on the 3-month certificate course. These teacher trainers will form part of the 'Extended Faculty' of AUD and will receive remuneration as per AUD norms for teaching on the Certificate course.

Applications are invited from experienced English teachers for the 7-day Capacity Building Workshop for Teacher Trainers. Details are as follows:

Workshop details

This week long, 56 hours credit-based capacity building programme will cover three modules: an introductory module on language learning theories and teacher education; a module on materials development, language pedagogy and assessment; and a module that will deal with issues around Continuing Professional Development (CPD). It will provide hands-on experience of how teachers can be trained in learner-centred ESL pedagogy who will in turn teach ESL learners using a blended learning model.

An important dimension will be to help participants to experience learner-centred pedagogies appropriate to the trainer-training context and to in turn enable them to adapt those pedagogies to the training context.
