

AUD opens admissions to UG courses

Registration will be completely online for all categories

STAFF REPORTER

NEW DELHI

Ambedkar University Delhi on Friday announced the opening of admissions to undergraduate (UG) programmes of the university for the session 2019-20. BA admission forms will be available till June 26.

"All eligible applicants are informed that the registration process for UG programmes will be completely online for all categories. The details of registration process and subsequent procedures are provided in the 'Bulletin of Information', which is available online and can be downloaded," the university said in a statement.

The university offers seven BA (Honours) programmes at

The university said BA admission forms will be available till June 26.

Kashmere Gate Campus, four BA and three BVoc programmes at Karampura Campus, having 541 seats in total.

At the Kashmere Gate campus, the university is offering BA in economics, history, psychology, social sciences & humanities, English, mathematics and sociology. All the courses have 35 seats each. At the Karampura campus, the School of Vocational Studies is offering BVoc in tourism & hospitality, retail management, early childhood centre management and entrepreneurship with 32 seats each.

The School of Law, Governance & Citizenship is offering BA in law & politics with 50 seats and the School of Global Affairs is offering BA in global studies, sustainable urbanism and social sciences & humanities with 50 seats each.

A percentage of seats are reserved for students who live in Delhi.